

Workshop News, with Patrick Jasper Lee

I am letting everyone know that I am having to reshuffle all my workshops for 2019 due to an unforeseen tragedy beyond my control.

On 2nd November 2018 I was a victim in a car accident. The incident, on my part, was unavoidable due to someone else's carelessness, and I'm I am happy to say that the driver of the car who hit me is being prosecuted by the police. Fortunately, I was not hurt physically, but my car, which I'd had for barely six months, was written off, meaning that I cannot now travel up and down the country with my books, CDs, magical tools etc for the workshops I was engaged in. I've therefore decided that I will now hold my meetings in the one place: Cardiff, which is near to my home.

These get-togethers will, I hope, be ongoing, so long as sufficient numbers attend and interest is shown, and we can come together to transform, share interests and make new friends with others of like mind. I held my meetings like this a few years ago, very successfully, and aim to do so again.

Those who have already worked with me will, I hope, be inspired to attend these meetings that lift the soul and address elements of life not talked about in other places. Remember that I am the last indigenous Chovihano in western society, not your average neo-shaman. I am here to help folk restructure their thinking to accommodate ancient healing principles, to work with the otherworld, and use what skills and abilities they have to make life work.

I will otherwise now be devoting a lot of my time to writing (fiction and non-fiction), song-writing and making my usual videos. My website will keep everyone in touch with the workshop dates in Cardiff, and all other news.

Your understanding and respect in this matter will be appreciated. Anyone who has already organized a workshop or who has attended one in a place other than Cardiff will qualify for a discount at the Cardiff mid-March workshop, but I would like to thank all those in other parts of the country who have made my work available to folk and I apologize for any inconvenience caused in cancellations in 2019.

I hope this is not the end but the beginning of something new, and special! Stay in touch.

The next meeting in Cardiff, below. Bring along your questions and curiosity.

Talk/Workshop/Meeting with Patrick Jasper Lee

Quaker Meeting Rooms, Cardiff. Sat March 16th. 10.30am-4.30pm.

£50 per person. All most welcome.

To book please contact me through my contact page on

www.patrickjasperlee.com.